PEAK VIEWING FOR DAFFODILS IN FURNACE RUN METRO PARK

Thousands of daffodils – including dozens of varieties – are expected to be at or near peak bloom by this weekend and through the middle part of next week along the H.S. Wagner Daffodil Trail in Furnace Run Metro Park (3100 Brush Rd., Richfield).

Parking in the gravel lot is limited to about 10 cars, so visitors are encouraged to be patient and go on weekdays before 4 p.m. There are three picnic tables and a portapotty near the start of the trail.

The 0.6-mile Daffodil Trail is named for the first director of Summit Metro Parks. Harold S. Wagner planted the first bulbs there in the late 1930s.
